

Anastazios
“The Garden Gone and Lost”
(«Τον Κήπο που Έσβησε κι Εχάθη»)

Subways Music presents Anastazios’ second album, “The Garden Gone and Lost”, which features settings of poems by Greek poet Napoleon Lapathiotis (1888 - 1944).

“The Garden Gone and Lost” effuses the feeling of melancholy and lack of fulfillment sensed in Lapathiotis’ poems (“Song”, “Narcissus” and “Evening Roses”). The other two more extensive compositions (“Deep Enigma” and “The Garden Gone and Lost”), for accordion and piano, raise the intensity of the underlying melancholy even further. The selection of songs on the present recording are just a small portion of the composer’s numerous settings of Lapathiotis’ poetry.

The album, produced by Anastazios and originally distributed as a CD with “Odos Panos” magazine (Issue 173, January – March 2017), is now released and available for digital download via Subways Music (2017).
